Wolf pack encounter

The story first emerged on the Merritt Grapevine a couple weeks ago, but this week the BC Forest Safety Council issued an alert about a forestry worker on Lower Michael Rd., south of Merritt who was approx. 100m from her truck when a pack of at least 5 aggressive wolves approached within 3m of her. One of her dogs stayed with her while the other barked and held off the wolves.

She got to the truck and called for help on the local radio channel. The dog that had been defending her came when she called him again, but had sustained major injuries and had to be put down. The worker was not physically injured.

The Safety Council recommends making yourself larger than the wolves, making noise & throwing sticks, and backing away, never turning your back on them. They ask to report any incident.

Letter to the editor Bylaws vs Charter of Rights

My name is Gilles Provost, aka French. I wrote two letters to City Council and the local newspaper in April. Since then, many people told me how confusing they find Merritt's bylaws and the Charter Of Rights. This letter is to help the people of Merritt to better understand the bylaws and how the Charter Of Rights fits in with the bylaws. This letter also explains how to use proper protocols to address the city, and if need be, to file a complaint. Knowing the rules to be followed and observed by the city and the citizens would give a sense of fairness to all involved.

My research included reading the City Bylaws, the Fire Services Act and the Charter of Rights which are all available on the Internet. I also made phone calls to the Ombudsman, the Fire Chief of Merritt, had a meeting with the RCMP, Nicola Valley Legal Advocate, the Merritt Chief Administrator, and the Mayor of Merritt.

I'm in no way insinuating that this research resolves any controversy or disagreement between different parties, but will perhaps give a sense of security knowing that there is a protocol to be followed by all parties. Furthermore I'm not a lawyer or legal advisor, this information is the findings of my personal research and is intended to help residents understand the process a bit better. The space needed to include all of the information would exceed the word limit for the newspaper, so I have created a web page called merrittbylaws.com. Hope to see you there.

*Gilles Provost, aka French
[Editor: In early June, Gilles interviewed several people including the mayor, rcmp, fire chief, etc. It took 2 months to write this letter and then 3 months to edit it. He sent his draft to those who had commented on it, for review. After everyone had a chance to read it and advise of any changes, he posted it online & sent this notice to the newspapers.]*

Quickies

I never buy Velcro... It's such a rip off. And those sleazy salesmen always trying to hook you in. Trying to stick it to you.

Why couldn't the alligator satisfy his lover? He had a reptile dysfunction.

Why was Pavlov's hair so soft? Classical conditioning.

Caring for our own children

Lii Michif Otpemisiwak Family & Community Services, with Merritt Moms & Conayt Friendship Society present Out of Care Options. Learn about services and programs available to help support children to remain in the care of their families. Presenter Jacques Goutier, Interior Regional Aboriginal Child Protection worker will speak today, Wed. Oct 30, 1:30-3:30pm at Merritt Moms & Families, 2176 Quilchena Ave, in the back meeting room. Small business seminar

Understanding your credit rating

Community Futures Nicola Valley invites the public to attend a free seminar: How to understand your credit rating and what it really means. It will be held in the Community Room at City Hall on Thurs. Nov. 7, 12:45-3pm. You will learn about credit history and why it is important, how to maintain good credit history, how your score is determined, and to understand personal guarantees in business loans. This seminar is hosted at Small Business BC in Vancouver and delivered to CF Nicola Valley via videoconference.

Please reply to manuel@cfdcnv.com or call 378-3923 for advance registration, due to limited seating.

Community Extreme Weather Shelter

The Nicola Valley Shelter & Support Society's Extreme Weather Shelter volunteer training is scheduled to take place on Wed., Oct. 30, 6:30-8pm at the Shelter, 1937 Quilchena. Anyone interested in volunteering is encouraged to attend. To volunteer, pick up forms at the Community Policing Office 378-3955 or Keri 315-8798.
