Friendship & devotion

Quilting Arts Magazine is the foremost monthly magazine for quilting enthusiasts. Among the many interesting features is the Reader's Challenge, where quilters across North America & the rest of the world submit art quilts based on the given criteria — it's a starting point for a fun project and a way to interact with other quilters. After a selection committee looks over the submissions, they decide on the works that will be published.

The edition currently on newstands features a small art quilt made by Merritt resident Shel Hein, one of 12 published from the 60 submitted last fall for the 'friendship & devotion' challenge. It is titled Me Too! and was inspired by her closest friend, whom she's known since childhood.

Not only did Shel's quilt make it into the article, but it was featured on the title page of the article, as well as in the table of contents — three spots in one magazine! (Clearly they liked hers best!)

Thank vou

A big thank you to those that believe in me, trusted me, sponsored and voted for me. There is a lot of work to do in regaining public trust in Council.

Congratulations to Neil Menard in the job ahead as a newly elected councillor. Ginny Prowal

Letter to the editor

Country with Attitude?! More like Council with Attitude

I tried my best to hold back, but I just couldn't resist:

Country with Attitude?! More like Council with Attitude, I'd say. Seriously, what is this? Like many other Merritonians, I am appalled by this new branding of our town. I am sure most of the arguments have been made by others, but let's reiterate:

How is this the best option? Who was this "task force"? Why wasn't it presented to the public in a proper forum? Where was our say? And, God forbid, what are they thinking???

Who are the marketing geniuses responsible for this? While it's great to have an edge, you don't want your city's brand to be risque. You don't want to leave any room for it to be taken the wrong way. And "attitude" is probably the easiest word to do just that. That word initially comes off negative to everyone. If you have to EXPLAIN your slogan, and tell people why it's actually a good thing, then it's not a good brand! (Mr. Christy, you make dirty cookies. -Uh, what? - But dirty means good!)

This is where council is supposed to have good judgement. You're supposed to be conservative. Realize the potential responses, consequences, uproar, etc. that could arise. Look at some of BC's other brands - Kamloops is the Tournament Capital; Kelowna, the Orchard City; Nelson, the Queen of the Kootenays; Penticton, the Peach City; and Surrey, the City of Parks. Do you think any of those cities would consider "attitude" a better alternative?

Perhaps I am missing something. Is council trying to pull a "Miley Cyrus" maybe? Is this some attempt to make a transformation from a sweet little country town to an edgy, attention-seeking city? Is the logo going to show the Mayor twerking?

But I get it. We're all used to it by now - council does what they want. That's their attitude. Nik Vischschraper, an embarrassed Merrittonian from London, On - The Forest City

Texas Millionaire

A Texas millionaire had fallen ill. The doctors consulted did not seem to understand what ailed him. The millionaire let it be known that any doctor who could heal him could have whatever he desired. A country doctor was finally able to cure him, and as the doctor was leaving after a week's stay, the Texan said, "Doc! I am a man of my word. You name it, and if it is humanly possible, I'll get it for you." "Well," said the doctor, "I love to play golf, so if I could have a matching set of golf clubs, that would be fine." With that, the physician left. The doctor didn't hear from the Texan millionaire for some months. Then, one day, he got a phone call from the millionaire. "Doc, I bet you thought that I had gone back on my word. I have your matching set of golf clubs. The reason it took so long is that one of them didn't have a swimming pool, and I didn't think that was good enough for ya. So I had a pool installed and the clubs are all ready for you now!"
