Letter to the editor

Overwhelmed by kindness

I'm writing this with tears flowing down my cheeks because I am so overwhelmed by the kindness that was just dropped off at our front door (Wed 10th). A very kind person, I don't know who because I only caught a glimpse of a woman heading back to her car in our driveway, left a hot, freshly baked Apple Crisp, and a Banana Loaf for us with a note saying... Thank You for all that you do and a smiley face. I immediately phoned Peter to tell him that not all people hate teachers, and that someone appreciates all the hard work he's been doing on behalf of the teachers in this district during the strike.

To the woman who was so thoughtful in dropping this off, thanks are not enough. You have no idea what this means to both of us. After months of feeling reviled by the public because it seems so many people dislike teachers (and by association, their family members), this has brought a ray of sunshine to us today. Thank you, thank you, thank you whoever you are.

Warm regards, Peter & Rachelle Vogt

Plum fruit leather

7 lb plums

¾ cup granulated sugar

Preheat oven to 400° F. Wash, cut in half and pit the plums. Lay halved plums out on rimmed cookie sheets with cut side up and place in the oven for 20 min. Check often to avoid burning the plums.

After 20 mins, remove plums from the oven and let them cool. Blend plums in food processor until smooth and pour mixture into a large bowl.

Add ¾ cup sugar (optional) to blended plums and stir well. Line rimmed baking sheet with parchment (not wax paper!) Pour in the purée, ½"-¾" thickness.

Let dry in a low (140°F) oven until the purée has dried out and formed fruit leather, about 6-8 hours, depending on the thickness. Use a pizza cutter to cut into strips. To store it, put it in an airtight container or ziplock bag, and store in the refrigerator or freezer.

were't able to make the last workshop, Merritt Seed Savers and Monkey in the Garden are offering a second one on Sunday Oct 5th, 10:30am. There will be hands-on seed collecting & cleaning, as well as a discussion on seed purity, genetic diversity & bottle necking — and some seeds to send home with each participant too! Includes a tour of their farm, and a delicious seed-to-plate lunch. Cost is $40, limit of 15, secure your spot by registering early with Eleanor 378-4947, final deadline Sept 29th.

Getting Votes the Hard Way

While going door to door, introducing myself as a candidate for City Council, I got quite a surprise: At one house a man opened his door as he was restraining a large dog by its collar. I told him who I was and why I was at his door. Out of habit, I reached forward to shake hands. The dog suddenly jumped, lunged and sank his teeth right through my finger. The man apologized, saying "Well, I guess I'll HAVE to vote for you now."
