Tomato Red

Ireland's Octagon Films is shooting in Merritt, Tomato Red, a film adapted from the book by Daniel Woodrell.

Maybe you caught a glimpse of the James Dean/Brad Pitt-styled character Jason Merridew around the downtown core yesterday. In the story, he is "blessed with drop-dead good looks" and is key to he & his sister's getting out of a small town in the Ozarks (yes, Merritt, Kelowna & other BC Interior towns are standing in for the Ozarks!)

The production company is also responsible for several well-known series & movies: Calvary (shown last season by the NV Film Society), Becoming Jane, Vikings, Penny Dreadful, The Borgias, The Tudors, and Camelot, among others.

Quilchena Avenue rail bed lands

Last year, the City of Merritt purchased nearly 3 acres of land from CP Rail, that parallel Quilchena Ave. east of Main St. The primary reason is to extend Cleasby St. and provide better north-south traffic flow on the west side of town.

The question now is what to do with the remainder of the land? A best-use study was commissioned late last year and identifies 3 possible options for how the remainder lands could be used. The City now wants to know from anyone who feels their interests are affected by these ideas. All properties immediately adjacent to these lands will receive individual coorespondence before October 1. Then there will be an open house on October 15, 4-7pm. The City is encouraging feedback in the meantime, to prepare for the open house.

Concept 1 Linear park

Concept 2a Linear park & community garden connected to a subdivision with 8 single-family & 3 duplex lots with affordable housing requirements.

Concept 2b Blended Option – Similar to Concept 2a, but with more park space & a higher ratio of affordable housing.

Coquihalla bus crashes prompt safety review

Transportation Minister Todd Stone made an announcement yesterday that there will be a safety review of BC's motor coach industry. This follows 2 serious bus crashes on the Coquihalla: one last month when 38 people were taken to hospital, and the other last summer when 45 people were injured.

Minister Stone said: "Such incidents are rare, but tend to involve a large number of people due to the nature of the vehicle." The review does not cover school buses or transit systems, only larger motor coaches where passengers sit above a luggage compartment. The results are expected next year.
