Christmas Bird Count turns up rare species

Vic Newton is a beginner birder but he has a sharp eye. During the Merritt Christmas Bird Count on Sunday 18th December he spotted an unusual bird as his group explored the Collettville area. His daughter Jennifer managed to get a good photo of the bird using her iPhone focused through a spotting scope. Various experts later identified this as a Lesser Goldfinch – which has been recorded fewer than 20 times in B.C. While the American Goldfinch is a common resident of the Merritt area, its smaller cousin the Lesser Goldfinch is a rare vagrant. At this time of year this bird should be in Mexico, California or coastal Oregon.

The Christmas Bird Count has now been held for 18 years in Merritt. Organized by the Nicola Naturalist Society there was a record turnout of 36 people this year. Birders from Kamloops, Surrey and Logan Lake helped out in the Merritt count. The same 22-km diameter count circle is covered every year. This is one of over 2,500 Christmas Bird Counts held across North America during a two-week Christmas period. The data from these counts are archived by the Audubon Society and Bird Studies Canada and make up the longest running (over 117 years) and largest wildlife database in the world. Data from CBCs are used by scientists to track changes in bird distribution and abundance and have been used in landmark studies showing the effects of climate change.

But the main intent of the Christmas counts is to get people out enjoying the winter birds. In Merritt this year, the local naturalists ticked off 70 species and over 7,000 individual birds, more than double the usual number. This abundance of birds, despite the recent cold spell, was due to unusually large numbers of Bohemian Waxwings, European Starlings and waterfowl like Mallard & American Coot. Away from town there were also large numbers of raptors, including Bald Eagles, Golden Eagles, Red-tailed Hawks & Rough-legged Hawks. Many species are attracted to the seeds and suet put out by many Merritt households and the town area often yields interesting species, but few as unusual as this year's Lesser Goldfinch.

The full details of the Merritt Christmas Bird Count are posted on the naturalists' website www.nicolanaturalists.ca
— Alan Burger, Nicola Naturalists

2017 tax assessments

With property assessments out last week, Merritt property owners will find changes in value ranging from -5% up to +15% from last year.

In Merritt, an estimated typical single family residential property percentage change to 2017 assessment values compared to July, 2016 is $261,000, up from $241,000.

In the Thompson-Okanagan, "The majority of residential home owners within the area can expect a modest change in value, compared to last year's assessment," according to BC Assessment's Acting Regional Assessor Graham Held. Except for Sun Peaks (where the increases to some single detached residential properties are up as much as 30%), Merritt falls into the next highest increase range along with Barriere, Cache Creek, and Lillooet. Other communities including Kamloops have had increases of up to 10%.

Property owners can find info at bcassessment.ca including answers to many assessment-related questions. If you disagree with the assessment or see incorrect info on your notice, contact BC Assessment, as indicated on the notice, ASAP in January by calling 1-866-825-8322. You may submit a Notice of Complaint/Appeal by January 31st, for an independent review by a Property Assessment Review Panel, which typically meets between February 1 and March 15 to hear formal complaints.

Dinner Tonight Eighty-year-old Bessie bursts into the recreation room of the retirement home. She holds her clenched fist in the air and announces, "Anyone who can guess what's in my hand, can take me out to dinner tonight!" A witty, elderly gentleman in the rear shouts out, "An elephant?" Bessie thinks a minute and replies, "Close enough!"

Where Were You? The older police detective stopped by my house and asked where I was between 5 & 6? I respectfully replied, "Kindergarten, sir."

Where's the Seal A little boy returned from the grocery store with his mom. While she put away the groceries, he opened his box of animal crackers and spread them all over the kitchen table. "What are you doing?" asked his mom. "The box says you shouldn't eat them if the seal is broken," said the little boy. "I'm looking for the seal."

Jennifer Newton's photo of the Lesser Goldfinch, spotted by her father Vic. Taken with a cell phone focused through a spotting scope.

Letter to the editor

Re: Global TV Small town BC

A big thank you to everyone that submitted photos of Merritt and surrounding area to Global TV. Also, to Will George, the City's Ec. Development manager for requesting that Global showcase Merritt.

The announcer complained the previous week that they had not received photos. Then they were inundated and had a hard time choosing which to show.

Wonderful photos, great job, everyone!
Councillor Ginny Prowal

Technically still the holiday season

For many Canadians, the 'Christmas season' doesn't end until the end of the first week of January.

January 6th is when Epiphany is celebrated. It remembers the three wise men's visit to baby Jesus. Mummies or 'naluyuks' may visit homes in Newfoundland and Labrador at this time of the year. And in French-Canadian traditions, it is Little Christmas.

Many Orthodox Christians in Canada celebrate Christmas Day on or near January 7. In fact, Christmas lights on Parliament Hill remain lit until January 8, after lobbying by ethnic communities of Orthodox Christian faith.
