NICOLA VALLEY COMMUNITY ARTS COUNCIL PRESENTS

Re-start for Firehall expansion AAP

Due to a clerical error, the City of Merritt must cancel and restart the Alternative Approval Process for "Bylaw No. 2223, 2017 a bylaw to authorize the borrowing of the estimated cost ($2,209,000 over 25 years) of the Fire Hall expansion."

The problem was the elector response forms for this process were not available after publication of the first notice to electors; rather, they were only available after publication of the second notice. To remedy this error, the City of Merritt will re-issue public notices and recommence the voting process — ie. re-submit the ads in the newspaper with different dates.

Anyone who might have submitted responses will have to go back to City Hall to re-submit their vote/ form. If 10% of the electorate or 556 eligible voters indicate they don't approve of this borrowing, it would then need to win a referendum for it proceed. Any questions, contact the Director of Corporate Services ssmith@merritt.ca, or 378-8634.

Close call for Adelphi

Thursday noon, a work-guy was up on the Adelphi roof with a torch. (You KNOW we could stop right there, right?)... and a stud, inside a wall underneath where the guy was working - this stud caught fire. Began smokin'. The smoke started flowing down false ceilings, up false floors, and along those little tunnels where the wires and pipes run. And, of course it seeped out, eventually into corridors and common areas in the hotel... Ron West, who works for Jay around the hotel, thought he could smell smoke, checked it out and sounded the alarm. Jay says firefighters were on the scene pronto, and took care of the situation quickly, efficiently, and professionally. In fact, Jay was happy with the way everybody handled the crisis, staff, the cafe & barbershop folk, and his pub patrons. Hotel residents were ferried over to the ValNic by the Red Cross (a special emergency program allows for 3 days food and lodging under the circumstances) but most were back 'home' Friday. Close call. The Fire Chief says, "Five minutes more and the Adelphi would be a memory."

Thousands of years ago an Indian Chief in eastern Canada released a raven. At the same time, a Greek philosopher on the other side of the world released a dove. The two birds collided over what we now call the corner of Quilchea & Garcia, establishing that precise spot as the Centre of the Earth or omphalos (belly button). And it was called 'Delphi' by the ancients, later A-delphi (Mirror Historical Fact # 372)

— Gordon Cockle, Merritt Morning Mirror, Feb. 17, 1997

[Ed.: Every once in a while — all too rarely these days — we come across someone's favourite MMMirror story by MMM founder Gordon Cockle. Here's to nostalgia!]

A Moon Funny Two airheads in California are sitting outside on a cool, clear evening, looking at the moon and talking. One asks: "Which do you think is farther away ... Florida or the moon?" The other replies (with eye-roll): "Hellooooooooooooo! Can you see Florida from here??"

Resurgence of downtowns - redux

Starting Nov 21 until Dec 15, anyone will be able to stop by the Country Music Hall of Fame to view the series of webinars by Roger Brooks, that were offered earlier this fall, about revitalizing downtown cores.

Each week, one webinar of the series will be available for viewing throughout the entire week. Broadcast times are 10am, 12noon, 2pm, 5pm & 7pm. FMI Etelka to book your time, 315-3290.
