VSA lauded for safety
The Min. of Transportation and Infrastructure's Contractor of the Year awards were presented last Friday, and VSA Hwy Maintenance was given this year's honour for workplace health & safety. VSA's initiative to analyze and study third-party incidents with plow trucks resulted in a significant drop in accidents and contributed to no workdays lost this past year due to third-party accidents.

Thoughts from outside the box
The Invisible Me
Every person, thing, and place emanates a magnetic field, or what some might call an aura. A person's magnetic field influences his or her thoughts, actions, luck, and the type of experiences an individual will attract. The stronger a person's aura, the higher degree of positivity he or she will encounter. Moreover, the stronger a person's magnetic field, the healthier a person is.

The human being has two natures, the physical and the subtle. Since the physical and the subtle are interrelated, a change in the invisible component of a person naturally influences their physical half. This is so because everything in existence was first a metaphysical thing, spirit, then the physical dimension evolved from it, and all material things exist within the parameters of their subtle essence. For this reason, a strong and healthy aura naturally strengthens a person's physical component.

The mystics of the world, past and present, are able to perceive the invisible nature of existence. Furthermore, they're able to influence this essence. If a mystic wishes to influence a material thing, he or she first manipulates the subtle essence of that material thing. The invisible component to everything that exists rests in what some call the Astral Plane. This plane of existence occupies the same space as the material. If a mystic desires to, for example, heal a sick person, he or she will enter the Astral Plane and repair the subtle nature of the person, so to heal their physical component.

A strong magnetic field is key to a happy and healthy life and each person has the ability to strengthen their aura. A person can strengthen their field by vibrating correctly and this can be done through selfless service, restraint of the senses, contemplation/meditation on The Source, celestial music, and true prayer.
