Monica Jack murder trial

Guilty of firstdearee murder jury has found Garry Handlen guilty of the first-degree murder of Monica Jack in 1978.

The verdict was read aloud in BC Supreme Court on Thursday afternoon.

Alisia Adams of the B.C. Prosecution Service said sentencing will commence on Jan. 28 with victim impact statements.

A first-degree murder conviction, she said, means an automatic life sentence for Handlen with no chance of parole for

Going up against the Indian Act - again

Despite government efforts over the years to fix the situation, Canada's Indian Act still discriminates against Indigenous women when it comes to passing on their status to their descendants, the United Nations Human Rights Committee ruled this week.

The committee found the act violates Canada's international obligations and urged Ottawa to put an end to the differential treatment of an estimated 270,000 women and their descendants.

The complaint came from Sharon McIvor, 70, and her son Jacob Grismer, 47, both of Merritt, B.C., who argued they had not been treated as "real Indians" because of flaws in the Indian Act, which Prime Minister Justin Trudeau this week called a "colonialist relic."

The federal government changed the Indian Act in 1985 in response to complaints and various court decisions in an effort to address the overt gender discrimination. However, McIvor and Grismer argued the changes didn't remedy their situation but instead continued the "existing preference for male Indians and patrilineal descent."

According to their complaint, McIvor can only pass on partial Indian status to her son, who also married a non-Indian, but no status to her grandchildren. Her brother, on the other hand, can pass on full status to his children as well as his

"The committee notes that Sharon McIvor is treated differently from her own brother under the Indian Act," the committee said

The committee ruled that Canada must remove the discrimination and ensure all First Nations women and their descendants are granted status on the same footing as First Nations men and their descendants.

In response to the ruling, the government called elimination of all sex-based discrimination from the Indian Act a priority, and said it was doing so through Bill S-3. The office of Crown-Indigenous Relations Minister Carolyn Bennett said the government was putting in place an implementation plan for the rest of the bill's measures and for "broader reforms to registration, membership and First Nation citizenship."

"This collaborative process is another step toward ensuring First Nations have self-determination over how they define themselves and their communities." Bennett's office said. Thursday. "Our govsteps."

January is Crime Stoppers month

Concerned about crime in your community?

Do you have information but are worried about becoming involved in the file yourself? Did you know that Crime Stoppers is the only way you can provide information to the police without having to provide your name? If you have information that would help the police in Merritt please call Crime Stoppers. When you call 1-800-222-8477 (tips) you are talking to a call center operator in another province who takes your tip and then forwards that to the appropriate agency. They will not ask your name, they will not see your phone number, they only want to know your information. If your tip leads to an arrest you may be eligible for a financial reward. You can remain anonymous but the criminals won't.

The Third Murder

Nicola Valley Film Society presents The Third Murder on Monday, Jan 21, 7:=pm at the NVIT Lecture Theatre. As this film is UNRATED must be 18 years to attend. This Japanese film is a complex legal thriller, critically acclaimed and visually engaging which is centered around the murder of a factory president. Gift for a Wife Bill meets Doug shopping at the mall and sees he has a small gift wrapped box. "It's my wife's birthday tomorrow." Doug said. "Last week I asked her what she wanted for her birthday." "And???" Bill asked. "Well, she said 'Oh, I don't know just give me something with diamonds in it'." "So what did you get her?" asked Bill. "I bought her a deck of cards!!"

Sure about that? So what if I don't know what "Armageddon" means? It's not the end of the world.

The write stuff: Correct punctuation: the difference between a sentence that's well-written and a sentence that's, well, written.
