Please recycle

Recycling bin inspections

For the next 4 weeks the City of Merritt will be conducting a recycling inspection program. City workers will check recycling bins to ensure that only recyclable items are placed in the bin.

This comes after a couple weeks under the new Recycle BC program, and their feedback to the City of our high contamination rates.

Bins containing non-recyclables will not be picked up. If a notice is placed on your bin, please remove any non-recyclables in preparation for pick-up the next week.

Check www.merritt.ca/sites/default/files/recycle_bc_0.pdf for a list of what can and cannot be placed in your City of Merritt recycling bin.

Thinking outside the box Your unique life purpose

If there is a unique purpose for every person, then it must be imprinted within each human uniqueness. Nothing outside an individual has the potential to carry the same exclusive value, simply because any other person can also undertake the venture. There is nothing unique if many people can do the same. The only uniqueness is within the self.

Now, if the saints are correct, the sole purpose is to conquer the dark elements within—such as anger, lust, attachment, ego, and greed. In this function, each is unique because each houses dark units that influence to different degrees—the more they influence the greater the struggle will be. No person will endeavour as another.

The rewards for completing the goal are many. The foremost are salvation and a better living. Salvation is possible but not of the physical—this suggest the saints. Like a snowflake that never melts—like a tornado that doesn't swirl—like a lightning bolt fashioned in the workshop of an angel—the soul is more.

The earthly prize for conquering the mind's dark elements are also worthy. Suppressing them allows the beautiful aspects of a person to rise—such as love, truth, contentment, compassion, and humility. These characteristics naturally improve interpersonal relationships, personal health (mental, physical, spiritual), and provide an inner sense of peace and purpose.

The mind is your comrade. The mind is your adversary. The thoughts the mind generates can also pollute or strengthen a person's metaphysical being. The beautiful parts clean and fortify the magnetic field, whereas swimming in the mind's ugly elements defiles the metaphysical—this will bring about negative experiences, people, and interactions; and repel the angelic.

Suppressing the ugly parts and nurturing the mind's beautiful units frees and strengthens the soul, and attracts favourable celestial encounters. The saints suggest that for salvation to occur the metaphysical ought be prepared and God's Spirit must intervene. This notion of God's Spirit is found in many theologies. Known as Maitreya by Buddhism, Sat Guru by Sikhism, Vishnu by Hinduism, Salo Ghost by Druidism, and Poimandres by Thoth. Supposedly, a barrier between a person and God's Spirit grows if a person's mind is more often governed by the ugly elements.
