NVIT offers free tuition again — this time to all grads of First Nations schools in the province!

On the heels of last year's genius & forward-thinking offer of an immediate entry bursary to graduating SD58 students, at an announcement yesterday NVIT expanded the offer to all students graduating out of First Nations-run schools all across the province!

For the Board of Governors, according to President Ken Tourand, it was about providing opportunity for students to continue their studies. And with Minister Melanie Mark in attendance (with an announcement of her own), he acknowledged the the Ministry of Advanced Education, Skills and Training for its "unparalleled commitment" to First Nations post-secondary education.

Upper Nicola Chief Harvey McLeod, representing 1 of NVIT's 5 founding Bands — actually part of the founding committee — said back then, he "never dreamed" of the project becoming what NVIT is today: the studies, the services, the location... Min. of Advanced Education, Skills and Training commitment to teacher ed

Minister of Advanced Education, Skills and Training Melanie Mark was in town to announce $1.4 million toward teacher education seats for Indigenous students. In addition, NVIT will receive $730,000 for 2 master of education cohorts in partnership with UBC. An additional $600,000 to integrate Indigenous knowledge and culture into the BC teacher education curriculum will provide $50,000 to 8 institutions for the BC Public Teacher Education Programs & $200,000 for the Assoc. of BC Deans of Education to support co-ordination and collaboration across the institutions.

The investment directly responds to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission's Call to Action #62 that calls upon governments to fund post-secondary institutions to educate teachers on how to integrate Indigenous knowledge and teaching methods into classrooms.

Gas wars!

Yesterday, gas prices plummeted — and Merritt posted the lowest gas prices in the province on gasbuddy.com: 96.9¢ at SuperSave & PetroCan downtown. The average in the province is 139.8¢

News hit the internet around noon, with 'big' news that we had the lowest price — 105.4¢ — but it just kept going down through the afternoon!

Not sure how long it will last, but it was a little gift to Merritt, if you were willing to wait in the line-ups, in a town that more often has one of the highest prices in the province.

Tipping fees change

Starting June 28, TNRD residents will see changes to the rates for disposing major appliances, mattresses, yard waste and concrete. Residential fridges, freezers, water coolers, & removable/portable A/C units will be free to drop off. Mattresses and box springs will be $15 per unit. Commercial yard waste will be lowered to $40/tonne. FMI www.tnrd.ca/solid-waste-recycling

Which word becomes shorter when you add two letters to it? Short.

Oh No! A hypochondriac told his doctor he was certain he had a fatal disease. "Nonsense," scolded the doctor. "You wouldn't know if you had that. With that particular disease there's no discomfort of any kind." "Oh no!" gasped the patient. "Those are my symptoms exactly."
