Fire season still on

The Shovelnose Mountain wildfire 30 kms south of town is now under control, but remains 15 hectares in size. The wet weather is helping in firefighting efforts. In the meantime, a new fire that started Monday at Stoney Lake was caused by lightning.

Thinking outside the box

The Noble Army Part 1 of 3

Sometimes a noble army rises. Sometimes the righteous ones come together and battle the wicked. Among the Sikh people can be found such an organization, and amid them is the greatest covenant of the past 1000 years, the Khalsa. Established in 1699 by the Great Gobind Singh, the Khalsa is an armed union that exists for the purpose of defending against all tyrannical powers, protecting dharma, and protecting the holy of all religions—without taking anything in return. To this effect, death is a companion of the Singh (a member of the Khalsa). There is no compromising. Puran Singh, a renowned Sikh academic writes in his book, Spirit of the Sikh:

“Death, apparent death, is embraced by The Khalsa as no lover ever embraced his sweetheart. The Khalsa dies like the dashing waves of the sea, creating in the wake of its death millions more like itself. The life-breath of The Khalsa thus is losing its apparent life to gain its life everlasting.”

“In the ideal of The Khalsa, one can see the Ideal spirit of the passionate love of death for the sale of life as is seen in the Bushido of the Samurai of Old Japan. In that fervour of Yamoto, the physical life turns all into a little moth flickering its wings in infinite impatience to die. Death is the bride of the brave.”

Max Arthur McAuliffe, in his book, The Sikh Religion: Volume 1, writes, “... no superiority of the enemies in number, no shot, no shell, can make his heart quail, since his Amrit (baptism) binds him to fight single-handed against millions.” Rightfully so, the tyrants of the world are as strong as a million giants and those brave enough to stand against them as the Biblical “David”. Only without fear, and a will to sacrifice everything worldly, can the giants be defeated. To be continued...

Severe Thunderstorm A passenger jet was suffering through a severe thunderstorm. As the passengers were being bounced around by the turbulence, a young woman turned to a minister sitting next to her and with a nervous laugh asked, “Reverend, you’re a man of God. Can’t you do something about this storm?” To which he replied, “Lady, I’m in sales, not management.”

Labour Day beer My boss made me go into the office on Labour Day. Halfway through the day, he came in to check up on me and caught me having a beer. He said to me, “You can’t drink while you’re working.” I said, “Oh, don’t worry - I’m not working.”

‘One to One’ volunteer tutors needed

Literacy Merritt & Nicola Valley Society is looking for volunteer tutors for the One to One Children’s Literacy Program, which gives students the opportunity to practice their reading skills with a caring, patient adult. This one-on-one time increases their self-confidence, reading fluency and comprehension, and their chance for success at school and in life. By dedicating just a few hours a week during the school day, you can help a child develop literacy skills to last a lifetime.

Volunteers read with 3 students for 30 minutes each at a local elementary school once a week. All you need is a love of reading and a desire to make a difference in the lives of children in your community. Fall 2019 training sessions will be held on Monday, September 30th. Tutoring begins mid-October. FMI 250-378-7844 or literacymerritt@gmail.com
