IIO seeking witnesses

The IIO is asking any witnesses who may have observed the white Ford F-350 (which police attempted to stop on Sunday) as it travelled on the route described below, to please contact the IIO.

The first interaction occurred at approximately 3:50pm near Saddleman Road and Highway 5A in Quilchena, BC. Later, between approximately 5:10pm and 5:45pm, the truck was observed near Quilchena and Highway 5A, on Highway 5A between Quilchena and Nicola Avenue, on Highway 5 at Nicola Avenue in Merritt, and lastly at the junction of Highways 8 and 97C, near Snake Road.

The IIO is asking any person with relevant information or dashcam footage of the incident to please contact the Witness Line toll-free at 1-855-446-8477 or via the contact form on the iiobc.ca website.

Merritt fire danger high-to-extreme

Merritt's fire danger rating has wavered this past week between 5 (extreme danger) and 4 (high danger), and is forecast to remain that way through the weekend.

May was significantly drier than normal for the southern half of British Columbia, according to the BC Wildfire Service's seasonal outlook update. Many southern regions received less than 40% of their normal precipitation. Kelowna, Vernon and Kamloops are of particular concern, receiving 20% or less of their normal rainfall.

Since April 1st, BC has detected 284 wildfires resulting in 2,198 hectares burned, which is slightly above average in terms of numbers of fires but below average in terms of area burned. Over 90% of wildfires this season have been attributed to human activity. If current trends continue, BC can expect an above average fire season in the southern part of the province.

The amount of precipitation received in June typically determines the severity of the fire season. If the current weather trends continue, both the frequency and size of fires are expected to increase as grass and other fine fuels start to dry out. As we move into July, the probability of lightning tends to increase, thereby increasing the chances of natural fire starts.

'Dose One' drop-in

Interior Health immunization clinics across the region are adding and extending hours for drop-in vaccinations.

Drop-in access is for people who are 12+ (born in 2009 or earlier) who have not received their first dose of COVID-19 vaccine. People can arrive, register on the spot, and receive their vaccine. No advance appointments are needed.

In Merritt, drop-ins are available 4-6pm each Tuesday & Thursday for the rest of the month.

Drop-in clinics are for first dose only; second dose notifications are sent by email, phone, or text when it is time to book an appointment.
