$10 million to rebuild Middlesboro Bridge

During an on-site media event on Monday, Minister of Emergency Management and Climate Readiness Bowinn Ma announced that the Province will provide more than $10 million to the City of Merritt toward the reconstruction of the bridge, bringing it to modern standards to ensure its resiliency in the face of climate change.

"We know that climate change will continue to accelerate and river flooding will likely become more frequent as a result. That's why it's imperative that we act now to shore up important infrastructure and reduce the risk of future disasters like the one endured by the people of Merritt," said Minister Ma.

Preliminary engineering is complete and a procurement process is underway. Construction is expected to begin in summer 2024 and be complete in early 2025.

The new span will be approximately 1.5 metres higher than the original structure and built to withstand a one-in-200-year flood event. It will increase the water volume by 65% compared to the original bridge, and is proposed to accommodate two lanes of vehicle traffic and one lane dedicated to pedestrians and cyclists. The original bridge had an undersized walkway and no cycling lane or shoulder.

The Middlesboro Bridge reconstruction is one of several flood-mitigation and restoration projects funded by the Province for the City of Merritt, including rebuilding dikes and banks along the Coldwater River, road repairs, park restorations, water-well restoration and a new running track.

Approximately $12.2 million in Disaster Financial Assistance funding from the Province has been approved for the City of Merritt since the 2021 floods, which were the most expensive natural disaster in B.C.'s history, with catastrophic impacts to communities, the economy and critical infrastructure.

Additionally, the City of Merritt has been approved for more than $3.2 million from the Province's Community Emergency Preparedness Fund for flood-mitigation planning and infrastructure projects.

Lightning strike wildfire near Britton Crk

BC Wildfire Service responded to a small wildfire near Britton Creek, along the Coquihalla, on Monday. It was first discovered Sunday evening, and as of Monday was burning out of control, growing to 0.009 hectares. It was 'Declared Out' Tuesday afternoon.

Good neighbour bylaw to be enforced again

For the past year & a half, City council has not been enforcing thier Good Neighbour bylaw in the flood zone, as many residents were dealing with significant clean-up and repair. Now, many residents have repaired their homes, returned to their properties, and are seeking a return to normal.

During their last meeting on June 13, council voted in favour of a return to normal and reinstated the enforcement of this bylaw in the flood inundation area.

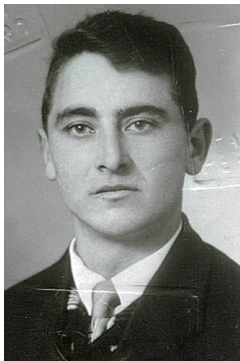

Starting June 30, residents in the flood zone will be asked to cut their grass and clean up their yards.

When I was young I wanted to play the guitar really badly. After years of hard work and practice I now play the guitar really badly.

I bought a guitar yesterday, but it doesn't work. I should have known, since the ad said no string attached.

A city in the north of the United Kingdom has gone missing. The police are still looking for Leeds.
