ER closure protest. Residents rallied after a call went out on the Nicola Valley ER Crisis facebook page yesterday. Interior Health closed the Merritt Emergency Dept. overnight Tuesday, with no notice at all. Organizer Georgia Clement posted: "Rally today was great, lots of honking horns and support. Mayor Goetz fully supported us although he could not attend, he is as fed up as I have heard him now. IHA assured him a week ago they were doing all they could... and what did they do??? They hired yet another director!!! Not another dr or nurse!!!!"

Nicola Lk beaches closed due to toxic algae bloom

Effective yesterday, all the beaches on Nicola Lake, including Monck Provincial Park, have been closed by Interior Health because of an active toxin-producing cyanobacteria bloom — blue-green algae.

Beach closures are issued when a serious risk to the health and safety of recreational water users exists. Stay out of the water and do not use as drinking water. Users are advised to avoid any contact with the beach and recreational water — boating, paddling, playing in wet sand.

If contact is made, rinse your body with clean water. Boiling the water will not remove any toxins. Eating fish caught from affected waters is an unknown health risk. If you choose to eat the fish, remove all fat, skin and organs before cooking, because toxins are more likely to collect in these tissues.

The economic cost of wildfire smoke

When tallying the economic toll of climate change, flooding tops the list in Canada. But the wildfire smoke that has blanketed many parts of North America this summer also comes with a financial cost.

In the US, researchers found smoke exposure can decrease income across a range of sectors, from manufacturing to farming to real estate, and that older workers and people of colour were disproportionately affected.

Another study, published last month in the journal Science of the Total Environment, concluded smoke particulates from wildfires could ultimately lead to between 4,000 and 9,000 premature deaths in the U.S. and cost a staggering $36 billion to $82 billion a year in health care.

In the midst of Canada's record wildfire season this year, an environmental economist at the Climate Institute of Canada figured that during a particularly smoky stretch from June 4 to 8, the estimated price tag of smoke-related health care alone was $1.28 billion. The economic toll of wildfire smoke is another reason to act on climate change.

The Wit and Wisdom of Will Rogers

I know worrying works, because none of the stuff I worried about ever happened.

You've got to go out on a limb sometimes because that's where the fruit is.

Don't let yesterday use up too much of today.

The worst thing that happens to you may be the best thing for you if you don't let it get the best of you.

When you are dissatisfied and would like to go back to youth, think of Algebra.

If you're ridin' ahead of the herd, take a look back every now and then to make sure it's still there.
