City of Merritt needs "2 years of belt-tightening"

Monday morning, Mayor Mike Goetz explained to CBC's Daybreak Kamloops about Merritt's budget shortfall.

He said: "We're not broke, but we need to make some changes, some hard choices." While the Nov 2021 flood took most of the reserves in the rainy-day fund, Mayor Mike admitted that sometimes, in a pinch, council would dip into reserves for some particular project.

That's going to change, now. He says it's time to become frugal with expenses, and replenish those reserves — for the inevitable water & sewer upgrades in the future. He said he expects that they need to tighten their belt for a couple years.

Council is looking at increasing fees at City facilities; no more buying new vehicles (they need to use them 'til they're unusable, and buy at auction); sending used equipment to auction when they don't need it anymore instead of giving it away; buying a greenhouse to raise their own drought-resistant bedding plants instead of spending $50,000-60,000 on plants each year; making cuts across all the departments; making cuts to 2 directorships & transforming them into 1 position.

And raising taxes & utility bills. "There will be a tax raise, though not as drastic as Osoyoos", said the Mayor. [In Nov 2023 Osoyoos Town Council announced they were raising property and utility tax by 39.3 %]

Budget deliberations are in the final stages, and while the increase for Merrittonians has not yet been decided, Mayor Mike says it will be in the double-digits — in the range of 10.5% - 11%.

"We need to get this ship re-righted", said the Mayor.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Souvenir Book, 1923

The Catholic church has had a steady growth in Merritt and district. Starting in a small way in 1906 in the home of Mr. J. Garcia, it has now a commodious building and a strong parish. This church has always taken a keen interest in the Indian people. Rev. Father J.M. LeJeune [wrote]: "My first trip to Nicola was in November 1882. I do not remember having seen any church building then between Kamloops and Spence's Bridge. I had the use of a very primitive one at Coldwater in 1885. Next was the one at Douglas Lake in 1888. The actual one at Coldwater was finished in the fall of 1890. A couple of years later, I had the one near the lake, three miles east of Quilchena, and last of all, the one for Shoooloos, in 1902.

These are all for the Indians especially, of whom there were about 500 attendants, but owing to disease and the "flue" there are hardly half that number now. The church at Merritt was built in 1910, Mr. Garcia having donated the acre block where it stands. The Rev. Father Phelan is the present pastor.

Mr. Garcia was one of the original settlers in the valley. He owned the estate now in the possession of Mr. William Lauder and was one of the valley's most successful ranchers. A devout Roman Catholic, his home was always open to the church to hold Mass in those days when there was no church building and he and his family always made the members of the congregation feel welcome at their home. He is entitled to be called the father of Catholicism in the Nicola Valley."

Did you hear about the blind man who picked up the hammer and saw?! That's nothing! Did you hear about the mute man who picked up the wheel and spoke?! And the deaf farmer who saw the flock and herd?

College is the opposite of kidnapping. They demand $100,000 from you or they'll send your kid back.

A teacher asks a student, "Are you ignorant or just apathetic?" The kid answers, "I don't know and I don't care."

Today, my son asked "Can I have a book mark?" and I burst into tears. 11 years old and he still doesn't know my name is Brian.

Learn about Lichens!

Nicola Naturalist Society presents local lichen enthusiast Christine Rimmington. Lichens are fascinating combinations of algae, fungi and sometimes bacteria. Often overlooked, lichens play important roles in ecosystems including storing carbon and providing winter food for wildlife. And in Chris's close-up photos lichens are beautiful art. Thursday Feb 15, 7pm at the NVIT Lecture Theatre. All welcome - membership or donation.
