Missing hunter's body found

A hunter who went missing near Merritt last weekend was found dead last Thursday. Claus "Myles" Fahrmann, 57, was reported missing last Monday morning after failing to return from a hunting trip in the Douglas Lake area.

His minivan was found near Glimpse Lake. Vernon North Okanagan RCMP confirmed on Friday that Fahrmann's body was found in the Merritt area. Police said his death is not considered suspicious, and the BC Coroners Service is investigating.

'Hot' edict on HVC products

On Nov 6, the BC Federation of Labour declared a hot edict on mineral products and by-products from the Highland Valley Copper Operation.

"The BC Federation of Labour declares HOT all copper concentrate, molybdenum concentrate and other mineral products and by-products produced by, or originating from, Teck Highland Valley Copper Partnership's Highland Valley Copper operation near Logan Lake, BC, wherever located, including product in storage or in transit.

"All affiliated unions and their members are asked to refrain from handling, loading, unloading, storing, transporting, shipping, processing or otherwise dealing with HOT product, in accordance with their collective agreements and Federation policy on HOT declarations. Affiliates are asked to identify HOT product by reference to notices from the Federation and not by attending at or marking product at any premises other than the struck operation."

The edict is aimed at directing economic pressure on Teck Highland Valley Copper Partnership to reach a fair deal with the more than 1,200 members of United Steelworkers Local 7619 who have been striking since October 24. Issues in the strike include wages, pensions, staffing shortages and worker retention, which have become urgent enough to threaten safety.

I worked in a shoe factory, but found it tied up too much of my time.

I worked in a cherry processing plant, but it was the pits.

For a while I made drums, until they told me to beat it.

I was a railroad engineer until I got sidetracked.

I was a baker, but didn't make enough dough.

exceptional step to take. But it's become clear this employer believes they can wait out their workers and operate around this strike and BC's anti-scab law," said BCFED President Sussanne Skidmore. "And it's up to all of us to show them how wrong they are."

"Teck Resources is pulling in record profits. Yet they aren't just failing to pay workers enough to retain them — they're even asking for concessions," said USW Western Canada Director Scott Lunny. "No company this profitable should be falling so far short of the wages and pensions they can afford to pay."
